Each section can be expanded so you can view/edit it. Keep in mind that the sections you don't fill out won't be visible on the final published resume!

Edit resume sections

Example: expand the Studies section. Use the Add Study action to add a study item to your resume.

The screenshot shows the MRC resume editor interface. On the left, a sidebar lists resume sections: General details, Address, About Me, Personal achievements, Studies, Courses, Work experience, and Competences. The 'Studies' section is selected and highlighted. The main content area shows 'Your studies.' with 'No studies found.' and an 'Add study' button. A modal window titled 'Study' is open, containing the following fields:

- Study name: Software Engineering
- Short description: This is a short description about my studies
- Level: Bachelor or equivalent
- Institution: University of Amsterdam
- City: Amsterdam
- Country: The Netherlands
- Study start: May 2010
- Study end: June 2014 (with a 'Present' checkbox)
- Degree: Yes

At the bottom of the modal are 'Save' and 'Cancel' buttons.

You have now added a study to your resume. See the Studies section below. So like this one, you can add more studies to your resume.

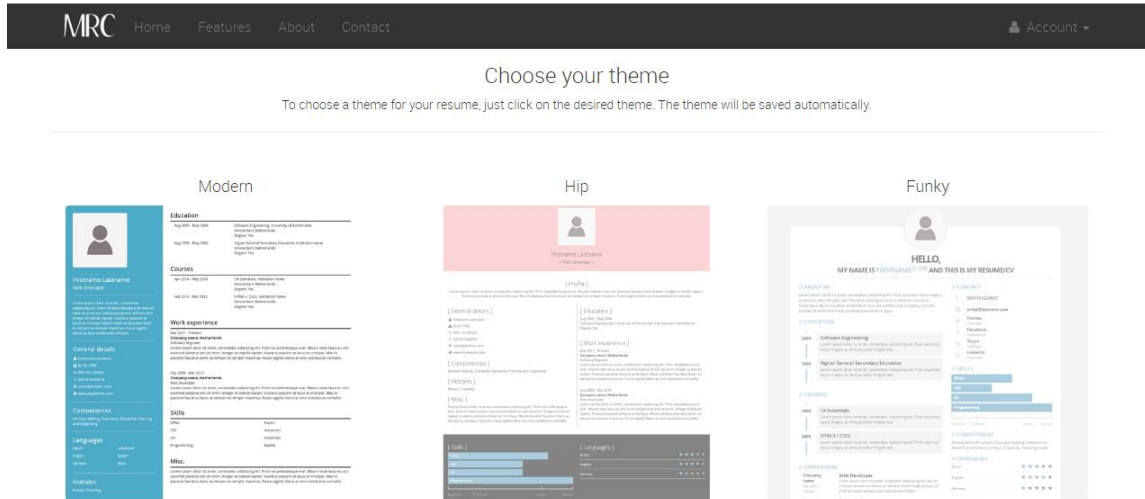

The screenshot shows the 'Studies' section of the resume editor. The 'Studies' section is highlighted in blue. Below the section title, it says 'Your studies.' and lists one study item:

- Edit | Delete
May 2010 - Jun 2014 Software Engineering, University of Amsterdam
Amsterdam, The Netherlands
Degree: Yes

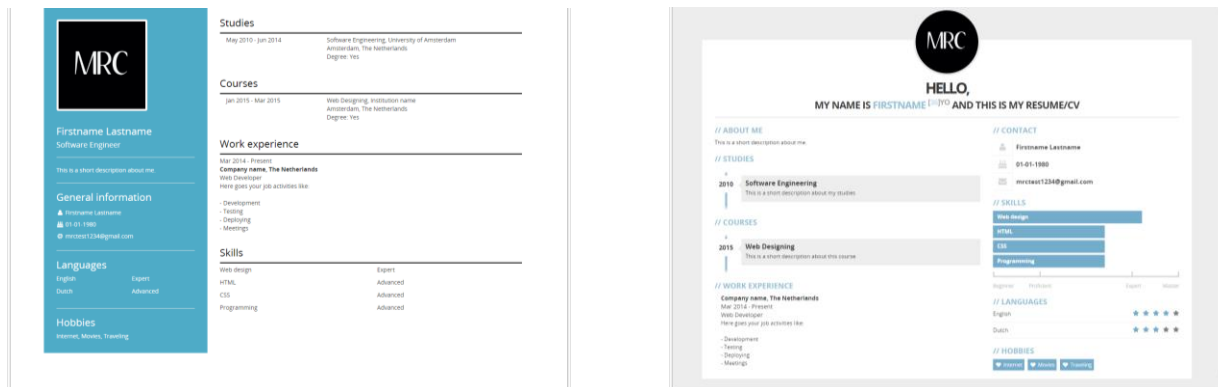

Below the study item is an 'Add study' button. At the bottom of the page, the 'Courses' section is visible.

Resume themes

You can choose from different kind of themes for your resume, just with one click. Just go to the Resume settings section in your account and select the desired theme.
